LEARNING FROM AFRICA

Equal opportunities for women in academia

Conference | Panel discussion

In Africa, women in academia seem to be well-represented even without female quotas, unlike in Germany. The conference seeks to discuss the applicability of strategies to facilitate the access and continuance of women in academia – in Germany as well as in Africa.

It also seeks to create international networks between researchers at any stage of their career, leading managers of universities and research institutions, politicians, unions and associations.

Speakers:

- * Jemima Akosua Anderson | University of Ghana (Ghana)
- * Grace Nana Aba Dawson-Ahmoah | University of Ghana (Ghana)
